In today's society of hate, murder, deceit, child pornography, human trafficking, child prostitution, and molestation, our girls need to know there are safety rules to having fun. In addition, our girls need to know and understand there are rules to dating, social media, and presenting themselves as girls and young ladies.

The Girls Just Wanna Have Fun project is a four-week six-hours-a-day course that services girls between the ages of 12 -17 years of age. The program provides educational resources that enlighten the knowledge of young girls in the areas of public presentation, social media communication, dating, and social behavior. In addition, the project course teaches the girls how to prepare for college and apply for scholarships, as well as entrepreneurship.

Etiquette Course

It is important to start the necessary social skills and be able to meet and greet others with confidence and kindness. During the four-week project, this course is offered for one week six hours a day teaching the girls table manners, dating skills, social skills, basic hygiene, and proper dress attire to ensure good mannerisms and confidence are second nature.

Personal Grooming

It is important for girls to understand their bodies as they begin to transition into womanhood of having a menstrual period monthly and what to do. This course teaches the girls how to use the different sanitary products and deodorants that are good as well as harmful to the body. In addition, the course teaches the girls to understand acne's purpose, problems, and management.

High School and College Prep Course

This course is a one-week six-hours-a-day program that teaches the girls how to research the schools of interest and apply for attendance. The course provides the necessary tools and resources the girls need to prepare for school and college grants as well as sponsorships. The girls are also taught how to write essays to present for entrance in essay contests and scholarships.

Entrepreneurship

The entrepreneurship course is offered the last week of the four-week Girls Just Wanna Have Fun project. In the entrepreneurship program girls learn the importance of being self-sufficient and financially independent. The program provides:

- Understand the business structure and foundational setting
- Fundamentals in finance, marketing, communications, and networking.
- Team-building exercises to encourage cooperation.
